Financial and business ethics responsibility

Our financial resources are managed so that the company's future is secured and that the company lives up to return requirements and takes responsibility to our owners, employees and other stakeholders. We look at investments and skills supply in the long term, and work continuously to streamline operations. Our business must be conducted business ethically and we dissociate ourselves from all forms of corruption.

Supplier and purchasing responsibility

We inform suppliers and partners about our sustainability policy and make relevant requirements in its areas. We take social considerations into account and act commercially and take advantage of the competition that exists on the market. We choose goods and services with the right function, the right quality and good overall economy.
